INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Flossbach von Storch - Global Quality is a global equity fund with an active, focussed investment approach. The focus is on long-term holdings in companies (real value concept), not short-term speculation. We therefore focus on the quality of the company, which is determined by the strength and predictability of the expected earnings performance. We value a strong and sustainable competitive position, a healthy balance sheet, attractive target markets and management with integrity and competence. High-quality companies tend to have above-average returns on invested capital and strong resilience to adverse developments. All investment decisions are based on a sound assessment of quality and valuation. We understand risk as an economic dimension, i.e. the danger of a permanent loss of capital as opposed to short-term fluctuations. Other in-house valuation models include ESG issues, engagement, and voting. In addition, exclusion criteria defined within the framework of the Sub-Fund's investment policy are taken into account.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed. The portfolio is composed by the fund manager exclusively in accordance with the criteria defined in the investment policy, reviewed regularly and adjusted if necessary. The performance of the Sub-Fund is compared using the MSCI World Net Total Return Index as a benchmark. The fund manager is not linked to the index at any time when making investment decisions and the portfolio composition. Therefore, the performance of the Sub-Fund may differ significantly from the benchmark shown. The Sub-Fund is categorized as an Article 8 product under the Disclosure Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 (SFDR). For detailed information on the objectives and investment policy, please refer to the most recent sales prospectus and the Key Information Document (PRIIP-KID).

EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5%, €50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services. Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund. The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

Uncertainty over the impact of the war in Iran weighed on international financial markets in March. Rising energy prices could slow global growth over time – and also push up inflation. The MSCI World global equity index fell by 4.1% over the month (calculated in euros). From the perspective of a European investor, the US dollar's appreciation against the euro by around 2.2% provided some relief. The flight to the dollar as a "safe haven" was consistent with many historical crisis periods. Similarly, given the sharp rise in oil and gas prices, it came as little surprise that the energy sector recorded the strongest performance in the MSCI World Index in March. However, the capital market also exhibited some unusual patterns: for instance, the price of gold fell significantly more sharply than the equity market, and historically defensive sectors, such as consumer staples and health care, also fell by more than the market average. Although the energy crisis could cause isolated headwinds in these sectors, technical factors appear to have played a greater role in price movements. At the individual stock level, the largest positive contributions to value came from our holdings in the financial services provider Deutsche Börse and the two software providers Roper Technologies and Intuit. The largest negative contributions to value came from our holdings in the consumer staples manufacturers Unilever and Reckitt, as well as the Swedish industrial conglomerate Atlas Copco. Whilst Atlas Copco's negative price performance is understandable against the backdrop of concerns about economic developments, the price declines at Reckitt and Unilever should also be viewed in the context of the sector trends described above. In the case of Unilever, there was an additional factor that the company announced the spin-off of its food division at the end of the quarter. This is to be merged with US competitor McCormick, with Unilever receiving a 65% stake in the combined company as well as USD 15.7 billion. Strategically, we welcome the spin-off and the sharpened focus on personal care and household products. However, given the relatively long transition period – the transaction is expected to close in mid-2027 – and high transaction costs, the market reaction was muted.

OPPORTUNITIES

- + These funds aim to exploit growth opportunities on global equity markets.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.

RISKS

- Equity markets and thus also unit values can experience severe fluctuations in response to market developments. The result can be a fall in the trading price. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably.
- Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a negative impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.
